

How we are helping to save children's lives

Save the Children

HELPING TO SAVE ONE MILLION CHILDREN'S LIVES

R&D
GSK's R&D expertise and Save the Children's on the ground knowledge help develop life-saving medicines for children in priority countries

Our chlorhexidine gel has helped protect the umbilical cords of over 30,000 newborns in Kenya

5.9 million children under-5 die each year from preventable diseases

Advocacy
Putting universal health coverage and access to medicines and vaccines for children at the top of global policy discussions

Persuaded Departments of Health in Mali and Niger to increase funding for healthworkers, plus free healthcare for mums and under-5s in Burkina Faso.

97,695 children fully immunised since 2013. Vaccine Expert Network set up by GSK and Save the Children to tackle problem areas

Immunisation
Ensuring that children under-5 from the poorest communities are fully immunised

Helped to train over 20,000 health workers since 2011

Health workers
Training more health workers to reduce child deaths in the poorest communities

Supply Chain
Helping to strengthen procurement and supply chain processes in priority countries, so more children get the right medicine at the right time

Emergency response
Working together to help alleviate the impact of disasters on children

Flagship programmes
2 flagship healthcare programmes: Kenya directly reached 48,243 children DRC directly reached 231,894 children

Regional and local programmes in 45 other countries

Helped over 300,000 children e.g. the Middle East and Europe refugee crisis, Ebola and hurricanes in the US and nearby countries, plus supporting a team of healthcare experts deployed to help children within 72 hours of an emergency

2,863,831 children reached directly:
187,873 treated for pneumonia, malaria or diarrhoea;
1,098,047 screened for malnutrition and given nutritional support

Employees raised over £3,300,000 since launch

103 PULSE volunteers with Save the Children since 2009

Employee engagement
Inspiring our global workforce to help raise awareness of the partnership. Over 550 Orange United Ambassadors in 51 countries organise fundraising events. Every penny raised is matched by GSK which contributes to our flagship programmes in Kenya and DRC.
